globe eggplant

From Kochi Prefecture

The distinctive features of globe eggplants are their thick flesh and the fact they do not lose their shape even when heated. They have a creamy texture and go well with oil. We recommend them as something that can only be found at Kirin City.

Chilled & Marinated Fried Globe Eggplant

tomato, Parmigiano Reggiano, parsley, salt, garlic oil, chicken stock, flour, bacon, fried onion

Kaga lotus root From Ishikawa Prefecture

かがやく
美味しさ 加賀野菜

Kaga lotus root, one of the Kaga vegetables (that have been cultivated since before 1945 and are still mainly cultivated in Kanazawa), is grown mainly on reclaimed land of the Kahokugata Lagoon in the northern part of Kanazawa city. The clayey soil in this area is suitable for growing lotus root, and it produces a firm and dense body to the vegetable. They are crunchy when raw, and chewy when heated. Enjoy the difference in texture depending on the cooking method.

“Edamame in season”

Limited Time

Edamame

The edamame season is very short, and both the best time and place to grow them change over time. At Kirin City, we source edamame that are in season right now from all over Japan, and serve freshly boiled ones once we receive an order. We have a wide variety of edamame available from early summer to autumn. Please enjoy them with your favorite beer!
